Manager's Commentary

July was a positive month in terms of absolute fund performance, reaching +0,15% compared to +0,11% for the benchmark. Following the narrowing of spreads throughout the month, the investment team decided to shift the portfolio towards bonds with higher IRRs, as credit is relatively expensive due to the aforementioned narrowing. Specifically, the opportunity was taken to increase exposure to French and European bonds with maturities of 2 and 3 years.

The rest of the portfolio has maintained the same structure, with a duration above the benchmark index of around 2.71 years, with duration risk only to high-quality sovereign or credit bonds that have offered entry opportunities due to market movements. Some examples were NovoNordisk, Air Lease, and Edenred.

In terms of currency, we maintain the dollar fully hedged, although we will closely monitor this position, especially after the closure of OBBB and the tariff agreements.
